

Diachuk visits Elk Point Chamber

The Honorable Bill Diachuk Minister responsible for Workers' Health, Safety, and Compensation was greeted by over forty members of Elk Point Town Council, Chamber of Commerce, oil company executives and representatives of the County of St. Paul when he visited Elk Point last Wednesday for a luncheon held in his honor.

The personable MLA from Edmonton Beverley was introduced by local MLA John Drobot, who briefly outlined Diachuk's legislative history, which reaches back to 1971. Diachuk has held his present Cabinet post since 1979.

Diachuk was welcomed to Elk Point by Chamber of Commerce Vice President Al Mitchell, who commented that Elk Point's position as the "hub of the tremendous expansion in Northeast Alberta" was enhanced by the visits of such dignitaries to the area.

Mayor Ed Buck welcomed the visitor on behalf of the Town, and commented that Diachuk's post is of supreme importance to the numerous workers in the area, who depend on the safety regulations outlined by this government department as well as on the compensation they receive in case of accidental injury.

Diachuk began his address by relating a humorous account of a brick worker's accident involving a series of interrelated mishaps which left the poor fellow in sad shape, and the audience chuckling.

Moving to a more serious note, the Minister commented on the concern each business owner should devote to the compensation system, because "the money to run it comes out of your pocket". However, he added, few would want to see the system abolished, because of its benefits to both worker and employer. "Few employers could weather a multi-million dollar lawsuit" resulting from an injury, Diachuk commented, and "how many injured workers would want to wait for their day in court — which could be years down the road?"

The no-fault protection offered by workers' compensation is beneficial to both employer and employee, but Diachuk said he is the "First to admit" that the program is not perfect and must be "fine-tuned" from time to time.

In the fine-tuning process, input is sought at public meetings throughout the province before being discussed by the select committees chaired by Diachuk. Recommendations from the latest review were made public last spring, with several changes to the compensation act coming into effect on January 1, 1985.

LAKELAND REVIEW

Wednesday, June 5th, 1985

BREAKING GROUND — Art Klapstein of KenArt Investments Ltd. and job superintendent Steve Abdallah supervise initial operations on the construction site of Phase 2 of the apartment complex, which is slated for completion in approximately four months. The thirty-five apartments will help to meet the fast growing need for accommodation in the fast growing community. If a need is shown, Klapstein says KenArt has sufficient land available at the site for two additional 35-suite complexes. A 48-lot single family subdivision adjoining the apartment area is also in the planning stages.

Group to study regional landfill

by DAVID MENZIES

A group has been formed to conduct a feasibility study on the merits of a regional sanitary landfill site in the St. Paul-Elk Point area, according to Bob Scotten of the North Eastern Alberta Health Unit.

But although the group is made up of representatives from the town of St. Paul, the town of Elk Point, and the health dept., it is yet unknown if the County of St. Paul will get involved.

Scotten says the county has been sent a letter inviting it to participate, but he believes it is "unlikely" that county will accept the invitation. Scotten adds that county has yet to return any of his written requests regarding sanitary landfill sites or problem dumping grounds in this region.

As for county council, Reeve Robert Bouchard refused to comment when the Journal asked if a county representative would join the feasibility study group.

But according to Scotten, county's participation is immaterial now as the study, slated

Advisory committee not recommended

The Krawetz/ Edwards report released last week does not recommend formation of a district wide citizens' advisory committee at the present time, with consultants Natalia M. Krawetz and Felicity N. Edwards concluding that, in their belief, it is not possible to create a single vehicle for all district concerns.

First, the report states, "citizen advisory committees work best when they meet a very specific need". The Elk Point district has a number of needs, for information, education to promote awareness and understanding, and for problem solving, and these are so different that one single committee could not hope to adequately address them all.

Secondly, citizen advisory committees "work best when they are mandated by an agency...or because community residents have formed them on their own initiative", neither of which has happened in this case.

Third, the report notes that "citizen advisory committees work best when compromise is possible" and this does not seem likely in the Elk Point district, where "firm and opposing views have already been stated formally in public". The groups with different values would have great difficulty compromising in an advisory forum while maintaining "hard positions in order to gain points at hearings."

The sixteen page report offered a number of alter-leeway to consider replacement of the merit rebate system. A consultant is working with the board to develop a system of rate modification based on the individual employers accident experience. The Alberta Chamber of Commerce will be receiving a proposal of the recommendations sometime this summer.

Another change was the clarification of the term 'proprietor', with the new definition being an individual who owns and operates a business which generally involves working for more than one person concurrently, and who does not employ any workers, as in the case of a mobile welding firm. Identification cards will now be issued to proprietors who pay a non refundable minimum 3 month assessment for compensation coverage. Employers who contract with that proprietor will know that he is covered and will no longer have to maintain a WCB holdback for him.

Other changes to the act will clarify that employers, partners, proprietors and company directors are not covered under the act as workers unless such coverage is applied for and approved by the Board. Also, workers from out of Canada and working for non-Canadian based employers temporarily conducting business in Alberta will not be covered by compensation.

The term "Worker" has also been redefined. A 'worker' is an individual performing work for a principal contractor unless the individual performing the work is an employer, the worker of another employer, a director of a corporation, a partner in a partnership or a proprietor who has obtained personal coverage under the act. This means that those who are proprietors by the new definition, but who do not have personal compensation coverage, are considered 'workers' under the act.

The time limit for reporting accidents to the board has been extended from 24 hours to 72 hours.

The area of lump-sum payments has been expanded, with those who receive compensation for permanent disabilities of up to 25% now eligible to take a lump sum payout. Approximately 18,000 permanent partial pensions are presently being paid by the WCB, and it is felt that this change will reduce this number substantially. Those taking a lump sum payout would still benefit if their condition worsened after the settlement, as the claims could be reopened.

Another change effects those who leave the province while benefits are being paid. Those who cannot provide satisfactory medical evidence of a continuing disablement and that the disablement will not be prolonged by leaving the province will cease receiving benefits in view of the new ruling.

Access to information has now been extended to any claimant or person acting on his behalf in seeking a review or appeal of a Board decision. A worker or employer can now see the medical reports relevant to the claim, as a means of gaining understanding of the claim.

Safety committees with WCB funding were also suggested by many of those giving input, and the amended act now authorizes the Board to consider such funding. Although these funds are not yet available, the WCB is working on guidelines and hopes to have a program of this sort next year.

Diachuk answered a number of questions at the conclusion of the program, and gave employers in the audience an opportunity to clarify parts of the new regulations.

In closing, the Minister reminded his audience that "safety doesn't cost — it pays."

natives, which can be "built on existing strengths and mechanisms in the district."

To meet the need for information, an Information Centre was the foremost suggestion. Here all information would be stored centrally and would be available to everyone. Here, people could browse through the material at their leisure, and if required, photocopy material for further study. Pamphlets could also be available for home study. The information located in a centre could include copies of all applications, information regarding regulations and regulatory agencies, contact lists for companies and government agencies, and general information regarding development. Maps were suggested as an important information source.

Suggested location for the centre is in the new library, with suggested hours of one day and one evening per week, with additional hours added in order to meet increases in demand. An Information Officer would be needed to collect and catalogue information and to answer questions. A regular newspaper column of the most frequent questions and their answers was also suggested in conjunction with this.

A yearly two-day forum, with display booths, a meeting of local authorities and oil company officials, and a social to round out the event was another suggestion, with expenses shared by all contributors. This could present information on the happenings over the past year, and describe what will be happening in the next year. Tours of the oilfield could also be held in conjunction with the forum.

To meet the need for general awareness and understanding, a series of seminars could be hosted by the ERCB, to create an awareness of the overall "big picture" of the development and what it will mean to the community. The report suggests the formation of an education committee of 3 to 5 members with the specific task of holding this invitational series. The series could be held in late fall or winter in order not to conflict with farm work. Generic information could be presented the first year, with more specific issues presented in future years.

The need for problem solving could be met by having one person from the ERCB and one from Alberta Environment work in a "watchdog" role to make sure promises made at hearings are kept and regulations enforced. District wide problem solving could become the mandate of an expanded form of the Lindbergh Environmental Study Group, which could be renamed the Lindbergh Study Group, and could have its membership expanded from the present members, who are all oil company representatives, to include landowners and residents of the Lindbergh field.

A suggestion was made that while each of the five oil companies could appoint one member to the group, the equal number of landowners or residents should be elected to their posts. The ERCB and Alberta Environment may wish to sit as observers, and the entire group should be accountable to the ERCB.

Municipal problem solving in the town of Elk Point could be done by an expanded Economic Development Committee, with expanded terms of reference and added representatives from other groups, to become the Elk Point Study Group. This group might wish to have representatives from government agencies and/or oil companies as observers, or available on an as-requested basis to discuss various issues when needed.

Local residents could be hired by both study groups as Secretary/Research Assistants to take minutes, prepare agendas and undertake follow-up work as required.

This type of study group has been set up elsewhere in Alberta, and in some cases, has requested a facilitator from the Provincial government's Environment Community Affairs Branch. The facilitator has "become the pivot" of these groups, keeping meetings focused on the topic, clarifying and summarizing points, and remaining neutral. This person could prove helpful to the group and could possibly be funded through Alberta Environment, the report suggests.

The Krawetz/Edwards report is available at the Elk Point Town Office and the new Municipal Library, for anyone wishing to study it further. All those who were interviewed during the study by the consultants have also received a copy of the document.

Would you believe bed races?

Just when you thought you'd heard it all, something new and exciting has been added to the Canada Day agenda.

You may recall from other years, that boring period when you are all lined up along the curb, waiting for the parade, and nothing is happening. The kids are getting restless, the sidewalk is getting harder by the minute, and the parade still isn't coming into view.

But not this year! This year, the pre-parade boredom will be turned into gales of laughter by the appearance of several three-person teams pulling, pushing and riding on wheeled beds, in the First Annual Elk Point Bed Race.

Rules and further particulars, including how to enter this innovative contest, will be forthcoming in next week's issue. Watch for them, and start planning your entry now.

Expanded library hours

Hi! My name is Carol Babcock and I am the Elk Point Public Library's summer student! I have just completed my first year of university at Camrose Lutheran College and it is great to be back home in Elk Point for the summer! We will soon be moving to the NEW library where we will have new hours so as to better serve you — the community. Our little town is certainly growing and changing and as this expansion occurs we must also expand to meet the needs of the people. We will be open Mondays and Fridays from 1 p.m.

to 9 p.m. so that the nine-to-five's have a chance to come in. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays we will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Wednesdays from 1:30 to 5 p.m. These hours are experimental for the summer months to see when people use the library most. Come on down to the new library and tell us what you think!

During July and August a summer reading program will be offered for pre-school and elementary children. The aim of these programs is to keep up the reading skills of children over the summer and to have a lot of fun, too! The elementary program is called "Many Books — Many Voices" and we'll be learning about Canada's ethnic diversity, doing crafts, and reading our way up the roots of Canada! The pre-school program, entitled "You and Me and the Community", will centre on issues affecting children and how they can deal with them. Crafts, songs, games and stories will make up a large part of this program as well as group discussions. All in all we hope to make the summer of '85 the best summer yet for the children of Elk Point. For more information about these programs or about the library in general, contact us at 724-3737. (I will be visiting the Elementary School in June in regards to the elementary summer reading program and registration information). Let the Library work for you!

Ferguson Flats, Lindbergh and Primrose news

By Mildred Dunham

Most people can now take a break for an occasional trip to the lake as planting is early completed. The earlier crops and gardens are coming along fast and hopefully, they will withstand the frost that covered the ground in some areas this week.

This is camp week for a lot of students as the grade six take their four days at Whitney Lake to be followed by grade five & four. Some of them are quite excited as it's their only chance to go camping.

The directors of the Fishing Lake & District Range Patrol are now busy selling tickets to help keep this club going. Please help this worthwhile cause and buy a ticket; you may be the lucky winner of a VCR or color T.V.

Andy & Chris Lambert from Bonnyville have been recent visitors at the Dunham residence. Recent newcomers at Lindbergh are the Raymond Stone family from Valleyview.

Most of the calves have been branded and the cattle taken out to various pastures. Some of the "cowboys" out on these cattle drives are just out for their once-a-year ride.

for a six-month period, will carry on with or without the addition of a county representative.

Besides Scotten, the other members of the feasibility study group include: Elk Point Mayor, Ed Buck; Elk Point Coun., Alvina Schuhmacher; and St. Paul Coun., Pat Gratton.

Scotten says the study will determine such factors as estimated operating costs of the landfill site plus the best location in which to put it. If everything falls into place after the half-year study (i.e. the land purchase, the tendering of a contract, and contract fulfillment), the area might have a regional sanitary landfill site by the spring of '87.

The province will pay for the study, the site, and all capital costs. Operating costs will not be covered by provincial funding, and exactly who pays how much will be determined by the study.

Scotten, overjoyed with the formation of the study group, said its findings should prove to be the end of St. Paul's and Elk Point's un-sanitary dump sites.

"It (the formation of the study group) is indicative of the progressiveness of the town of St. Paul and the town of Elk Point," Scotten said. "It (a regional landfill site) is a very rational development."

Scotten said he could think of no reason why county does not want to get involved in the sanitary landfill site issue.

Meanwhile, no one has used the new dump site near Lower Mann Lake that breaks some of the province's 47 dump site guidelines as reported in the May 22 Journal.

Scotten says his letters to county concerning the Lower Mann Lake dump site have also gone unanswered.

"No garbage has been dumped there yet," Scotten said. "But if county uses it, there will be a prosecution."

When asked if county was planning to close the illegal dump site or respond to the health dept.'s warnings, Bouchard refused to comment.

Good sports

National Physical Activity Week 1985 is a period which will go down in history, because of the importance of the activities which were completed during that time.

First of all, was the completion of fourteen months of incredible effort put forth by nineteen-year-old Steve Fonyo, as he completed his five thousand mile trek across the continent, a substantial feat for anyone, let alone a person with one leg. On his way, Fonyo raised approximately $9 million for cancer research..

Some people have made disparaging remarks about the young man, who did not stop to speak with everyone he met along his way. Come now — is it humanly possible to speak to every person stretched out in an endless line from sea to sea? Not in one lifetime, there wouldn't. And if the young man sometimes was less than cordial, who could blame him? It would be scarcely possible to retain one's mere existence while running through snow, ice, rain and fog, up mountains and through prairie blizzards, never mind one's sense of humor.

What this youth has done is to fulfill his dream, and to aid his fellow cancer victims immeasurably while he did so. There is a name for this sort of person. A hero.

Another dream was fulfilled in Edmonton last week, as the blue and orange banners of the Edmonton Oilers fluttered triumphantly and goals flashed by a totally overcome Philadelphia goalie, to make it "2 and counting" for the Oilers in their Stanley Cup championship. To thousands of exultant Edmonton fans, these men are heroes too.

On the home front, there are the Elk Point Elementary students who brought home the County Track meet trophy for approximately the tenth year in a row.

All the people who got out and walked, ran, swam, played ball, went golfing and participated in other sports should also be congratulated for their part in the week's activities, especially those who consciously made the attempt to Participact for the first time.

And then, there were those of us who retained our membership in the Shapeless Inactive of Canada, by staying at our desks, and saying, "maybe tomorrow..."

But, at least we weren't rioting on a soccer field somewhere!

Councils take initiative

Congratulations to the towns of Elk Point and St. Paul for taking the initiative in forming the Lakeland Regional Landfill Authority, which met for the first time last Friday.

The councils of both towns were in agreement with Health Officer Bob Scotten, when he met with them some weeks ago to discuss the need for a regional landfill site. However, the third governing body in the area, the County of St. Paul, saw no need for a regional site, even when told their own sites were inadequate and were in danger of being closed down.

For a time, it appeared that a feasibility study would not even be initiated, without participation of the County.

The two towns have apparently decided that the need for action outweighs the need to have input from the County, in forming the Authority and asking for funding for a study.

The two municipalities are still hoping that the County will see fit to join their new group and take part, and have left the door open for them to join at any time.

But, even if they don't, the study will hopefully go ahead and a need will be established, and something done about it... before there is no place to put our garbage.

After all, we do admit that we have some.

letter to the editor

We're worth it!

Dear Editor,

As a nurse living in this community, I am writing to express my concerns about Health Unit negotiations.

Part of the difficulty the health unit nurses are experiencing is finding any evidence that the Health Unit Boards recognize that nurses have any concerns at all that should be addressed at the negotiating table.

Nursing is not a work-depressed area; there are always people who need nursing care. Health unit boards acknowledge this fact but have only offered a 25¢/hour wage increment to support this concept of good care.

The cost of the health unit nurses' monetary proposals (less that one million dollars per year) must be seen in the perspective of the overall health care budget for Alberta.

The actual cost is one-third of one percent of the 300 million dollars the government is spending on hospital construction.

Good preventative care reduces the need for expensive hospital care and is certainly worth more than a "two-bit" offer.

Heinsburg Graduation

by Marjorie Carter

Heinsburg School held its graduation exercises on Friday, May 24 in the Heinsburg Community Hall. This year's graduating class had twelve members.

The format deviated from past years in that the banquet was held first. Mr. Robert Hendriks, Vice-Principal, acted as Master of Ceremonies. Approximately 200 people attended the delicious turkey supper put on by the ladies of the Heinsburg Community Club. Many people felt that it was the best graduation meal that they had ever had. The graduates were introduced and they, in turn, introduced their escorts and parents. Ricky Singer gave the Toast to the Parents and Stan Good replied. Mr. Good also gave the toast to the grads. Roy Cardinal gave the toast to the teachers and Mr. Kiss replied.

The Exercises began promptly at 7:30 as the Master of Ceremonies, Mr. Adrian Kiss, introduced each of the graduates. Graduated Chris Thomson gave the invocation, "Aim for a Star", which was followed by this year's grad theme, "A New Beginning". The theme song was written by Wilson Faithful and Heath Good, two members of the graduating class, and performed by the entire class.

The Principal's Remarks, made by Mr. Laverne Wilson, wished every graduate success for the future and pointed out that it is now "your turn to continue with your goals".

HEINSBURG HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF '85 — Not in order, are: Joyce Delorme, Doris Durocher, Roy Cardinal, Kevin Durocher, Wilson Faithful, Mark Fryngpan, Heath Good, Dwayne Moyah, Terry Moyah, Ricky Singer, Chris Thomson and Randy Parenteau.

Valedictorian Wilson Faithful told the graduates that fear of failure often prevents people from striving for a goal. "If you want something, you must go and get it, it won't come to you. Let's show the world what we're made of!"

Class historians Doris Durocher and Heath Good gave a witty summary of the personalities and future ambitions of the graduates.

Mr. W. H. Webb, Superintendent of School, County of St. Paul #19 acted as guest speaker. This is Mr. Webb's tenth graduation in Heinsburg. He told the graduates "don't believe everything you see and hear. The world is full of hard knocks", and you must overcome them to reach your goal. Mr. Webb also brought greetings from MLA, John Drobot who sent pins to each grad.

Richard Grovum, Councilor from Northlands School Division, presented each Northlands student (Randy Parenteau, Kevin Durocher, Doris Durocher, and Roy Cardinal) with engraved pens. Viola Atchynem assisted Mr. Grovum with the presentation.

The graduates presented flowers to Mrs. Marie Zayac for her part in organizing graduation and thanked the many others who assisted them. The graduates were Roy Cardinal, Joyce Delorme, Doris Durocher, Kevin Durocher, Wilson Faithful, Mark Fryngpan, Heath Good, Dwayne Moyah, Terry Moyah, Ricky Singer, Chris Thomson, and Randy Parenteau.

VALEDICTORIAN WILSON FAITHFUL — Told his classmates, "If you want something, you must go and get it — it won't come to you."

From the Sergeant's desk

By SGT. JIM FELL

I would like to congratulate the Graduates from Elk Point, F.G. MILLER HIGH SCHOOL and from the HEINSBURG HIGH SCHOOL for their great effort in the SAFE GRAD Program sponsored by our Detachment. Both schools were successful in the challenge and the monies collected will be issued to each Grad Class in the very near future. Frog Lake High School Graduation will be on the 14th of June and we will report how they fared at that time.

I am very proud of the Grads for their efforts in two ways, in that they took the challenge very seriously and stayed safe and also in their concerns for other people as demonstrated by their choice of charity. F.G. Miller chose the Northern Alberta Children's Hospital Fund and Heinsburg chose African Aid.

There was a total of $1195.00 pledged to the three schools, $646.00 to F.G. Miller, $287.00 to Heinsburg, and $262.00 to Frog Lake. I would like to thank all those people that pledged money, your names will be listed on a letter to the Grads. Any of you that would like to drop off your pledge at the Detachment, please feel free to do so, otherwise Cst. HUSKINS will be contacting you.

This Safe Grad Program, that is the pledges and the charity is unique to this Province, I have discussed it with the R.C.M.P. "K" Division Headquarters in Edmonton and I have no doubt that they will adopt the idea for future use in the Province. Again Grads, congratulations on a great job and good luck in your future endeavours.

Brownies, Guides host banquet

Elk Point Brownies and Girl Guides and their leaders hosted the mothers of both groups at the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet last Wednesday evening, with the after dinner portion of the gathering devoted to honoring the girls for their achievements during the year.

Following the smorgasbord meal, which filled the Empress Banquet room to capacity, the group adjourned to the Community Services Centre for the balance of the program.

Following opening ceremonies by both

NEW PATHFINDERS — (L-r) Tammy Boratynec, Elana Yaremkevich, Barbara Naber, Kim Bugera, Blanche Votour and Kim Smith reaffirm their Guide Promise.

Brownies and Guides, a number of presentations were made. Kim Bugera was awarded a prize as the year's Best Dressed Guide, while all the Guides received envelopes containing the badges they earned this year.

District Commissioner Susan Cressey presented three of the Guides with their All Around Cord, a historic award which has been part of the Guiding program for all of its 75 years. Recipients of this award were Kim Bugera, Barbara Naber and Tammy Bortynec.

Brownies circled around the toadstool as Brown Owls Linda Ference and Linda Piotrowski presented five members with scarlet feathers signifying their readiness to move up to the Girl Guide program. Leah Yakemchuk, Jaime Spence, Crystal Young, Tanya McLaughlin and Dorothea Naber were welcomed into the Guide Company by the leaders and Guides, and given the Grand Howl by the remaining Brownies.

Six members of the Guide company, who have spent three full years in that group, were "bridged up" to Pathfinders, and were welcomed to that advanced level by two members of the St. Paul Pathfinders.

Guide leader Audrey Smith reminisced about the past three years of Guiding, recounting such highlights as "Alice the Camel", "The Skunk is back!" and the excitement of snowshoeing. Barbara Naber, Kim Bugera, Blanche Votour, Elana Yaremkevich, Tammy Boratynec and Kim Smith then bid farewell to the Guide leaders, and gathered to reaffirm their Guide Promise.

Presentations from the Local Auxiliary to leaders and helpers of both groups, and from the Guides to the Guide leaders rounded out the evening.

NEW GUIDE — Tanya McLaughlin is presented to Guide Leader Audrey Smith by Amber Fell, while Assistant Leaders Florence Pinder and Ellen Seward look on.

Red Cross regional meeting held near Lindberg

by IRENE MAGNUSSON

Sixteen ladies, from Elk Point, Lindberg and surrounding areas, met at the River-view curling rink near Lindberg for the spring Red Cross Regional meeting. This group (formerly called a Zone) meets several times a year, to carry out the over-all Red Cross affairs of the two branches and the district.

Margret Modin, chairman, opened with minutes of the fall meeting, chiefly involved with reports of the Red Cross sponsored water safety course. Secretary Iryne Buck read the minutes. Six instructors were employed last year.

Treasurer Niki Riemer reported results of the 1985 March Campaign for funds. She had deposited $7,138.38 to Red Cross account in the T-D Bank in Elk Point, making 22 trips in all to the bank, as the funds were delivered in 22 visits from Campaign chairman Violet McFadyen. Riemer had written, by hand, "Red Cross — for deposit only" on a couple of hundred cheques.

"We need a stamp," she stated, and no one disagreed with that. All agreed the canvass had been most successful.

Vera Fakely reported for Lindberg branch. A total of 33 articles have been made and shipped to R.C. head office in Edmonton. These were: 1 pair mitts; 1 pair glove-mitts; 2 afghans; 1 green sweater; 3 sweater and bonnet sets; 8 pairs slippers; 4 toque and mitts sets; 2 baby sets. This branch has only a few members, so they have been very busy.

Violet McFadyen reported for the Elk Point R.C. branch.

Elk Point had hosted the Regional meeting on Nov. 8th/84. The branch has 17 paid-up members, who meet monthly. They have created 6 quilts, 5 nightgales, 2 infant afghans and 1 lap robe, which were delivered to Edmonton head office in February of this year. Other articles are on hand, along with quilts-in-process.

Elk Point branch held a Tea, Bazaar and Bake sale on April 27th, all proceeds were delivered to Red Cross to be used for Ethiopian famine relief. A total of $336 was realized.

There was one fire reported to R.C. in Elk Point. Modin here stressed the necessity of reporting fires early, and that reports should include ages and number of persons in the affected family, plus if insurance is carried. The sooner this information is received the better Red Cross will be able to respond. Margret Modin is the person to contact in Elk Point, failing to reach her, any member. The Elk Point Fire Dept. has agreed to report all fires they have knowledge of.

McFadyen continued her report with results of the canvass, details have been carried in this paper earlier. She thanked all Captains; L. Modin, L. Wilson and B.L. Vankosky for the work well done, all the canvassers, and especially those who so generously donated. "An average donation of $6.13 was received from all who responded to the canvass," McFadyen said, "with very few refusals."

Iryne Buck reported her thoughts on the Convention attended in Lethbridge in late March. She represented Lindberg, while Irene Magnusson went for Elk Point branch. Both felt they learned a lot, and that it proved an interesting two days. Magnusson showed a few pictures she had taken at the convention. Both delegates agreed the highlight of the event was the report given by a doctor on the problem of Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) and the Red Cross Blood Donor program. Much thought and concern is being given to this problem.

The plight of the famine victims of the world are high on Red Cross lists, along with disease, the results of the continuing wars, and the effects of natural disasters. The need is always great.

Marjory Carter, of Heinsburg, gave a report on last year's Water Safety Program at Whitney Lake, which is sponsored by Red Cross.

Two well-loaded tables of hand-crafted articles made by the ladies were on display. These will soon be shipped to head office. As usual, the group were treated to a lovely lunch prepared by the Lindberg ladies.

This is a meeting normally graced with the presence of several gentlemen. None showed up. Could it be the NHL game on TV that night had something to do with the lack of attendance?

Rainey wins door prize at Greenlawn Goodwill club

The Greenlawn Goodwill Club met in the Greenlawn Hall the afternoon of May 16th. There were 14 members present. The door prize was won by Laura Rainey. Birthday girls were Jo Gray and Bertha Lumley, but Bertha is still in Edmonton having undergone surgery twice on her hip. Best wishes to Bertha and hope she will soon be home as it is close to two months since she went up to the hospital.

Final plans for the graduation banquet were made. A sale of bedding plants etc. took place and the proceeds will be turned over to Ronald MacDonald house in Edmonton to help supply bedding. Next meeting will be hosted by Lillian Brock and Mickey Maddex. Dorothy Hilts and Alma Rainey served a lovely lunch.

Get well wishes to Lillian Poitras who underwent surgery in Vermilion Health Care Complex recently.

Dewberry and District news

By Cliff Cunningham

Maughan and Mary Cheppell were married on the same day as Clifford Cunningham and Margery Carlton were married, in the same church in Vermilion, but not at the same time, at the Anglican Church.

Another old timer of the the Vermilion Health Care Complex for a short while, and feeling better.

We just finished putting in our garden and we need a good rain. This hot weather sure dries the ground out in a hurry. It doesn't seem to stop the dandelions from growing. We have lots of good water in Dewberry and most of the gardens are getting a good soaking.

I called in to see the McDowall boys a while ago and Ronny Maughan and his wife Mary were there visiting. Ronny Clandonald district passed away, Yvonne Cusack's funeral was held in the St. Columba Roman Catholic Church at Clandonald on May 22nd with a very large crowd turning out. She was only 59 years of age. We are all in Sympathy with her husband Bill and all of their family and relatives. Rev. Marian Strankowski officiating.

Congratulations to the Dewberry School students on winning the Alberta Hunter Education Tourney. They captured the Henry Christensen Memorial Trophy. They were coached by Henry Kozak, principal of the Dewberry School. Monique Garnier, Troy Illingworth, Kelly Maddex and Harold Bowman all took part. Well done students.

We had 6/10 of an inch of rain on May 12th and only a light shower since then. This last week the low was 34 degrees above F. to 82 degrees above F. Today, May 22nd, it is 84 degrees above F. in the shade and windy.

Hospital Auxiliary May meeting

by IRENE MAGNUSSON

Thirteen members, including one new member, of the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary met at 8 p.m., May 27th in the usual meeting room at the hospital. President Wasy Elashuk opened with reading of the auxiliary prayer. Minutes were dealt with, read by secretary Agnes Moroziuk, followed by treasurer Violet McFadyen's financial report.

Income for the past month, which included the Tea, raffle, canteen receipts and soft drink machine sales, together with a few memorial donations, was over $1,800. The members were pleased with the amount.

The canteen sales have been going well, and McFadyen reported she had ordered more supplies. Since the "Volunteens" (some young persons who have helped around the hospital on a volunteer basis) work is now finished for the season, the young ladies have been presented with pins in appreciation of their work.

An order of "WE CARE" pins will be sent. The Tea and Bake sale was reported on, with recommendations that more help be secured next year to serve the Tea.

Mother's Day tray favors had been given (flowers to all lady patients) and a similar gesture will be made to feature Father's Day.

McFadyen and Moroziuk had attended the Regional Conference in Ft. McMurray. McFadyen gave a detailed report. She and other delegates had travelled by chartered bus, stopping for lunch at Wandering River, and arriving in Ft. McMurray in late afternoon, and were treated to a short tour of the city, then delivered to their hotel.

The Conference opened early on May 16th, in the MacDonald Island Parks Society room. Here they were greeted by town officials and dignitaries.

Keynote speaker, Betty Colicott, of Ft. McMurray Regional Hospital, unable to attend in person, had taped her address. She spoke on Volunteerism in Hospitals, which McFadyen reported as an interesting and thought-provoking subject.

Diane Wilson, president of AB. Hosp. Auxiliaries, of Calgary, opened the afternoon session, stressing the importance of good By-Laws in the branches, and extending an offer of her assistance to any who required it.

Thirty-five Auxiliary members attended the Conference. An interesting note was brought out by the Willingdon Auxiliary, who have 31 members, with an average age of 65 years and an average attendance of 28. They have been organized for 36 years. Wainwright, not to be outdone, reported 17 members, with an average age of 71 years.

The Conference brought many things to think about, one being an invitation to join the provincial Auxiliaries. This will require some study, to determine the benefits or not to the local group. The group thanked McFadyen for her report.

Discussion centered on how best to manage the canteen throughout the summer months, when so many are away. Several suggestions were put forth, requiring further looking into. Application has been made for an 'official' Income tax receipt number, not yet received. The over-bed tables ordered in the winter have been received. These will be presented later.

Ideas on how best to serve the needs of the patients were discussed; a few suggestions being reading aloud, visiting, and help with taking wheelchair patients for outings. These will be looked into. The meeting adjourned at 9:20 p.m.

LITTLE MELISSA DOREY — Receives her 2nd prize wall hanging from Elsie Oryschuk, in the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary draw May 10th. 1st prize rug lays on the counter, to be delivered to winner Edwin Nelson.

Painting can make your home look brand new and if you paint your house at the proper time you can save yourself time and money. The time to paint is after the paint has become dull and lifeless. Do not let it deteriorate to the stage where the paint is starting to peel off. This requires scraping, sanding and an undercoat.

Alberta Agriculture has an excellent publication on Home Maintenance and Repairs. The chapter on painting covers paints and tools, interior and exterior painting. The publication will help even the novice painter to make the job easier.

Paint types are categorized by the solvents that are used to thin them. There are two basic categories: oil base (solvent thinned) and water base (water thinned). The criteria for selecting a paint should first be the type of surface it will go on, second the function of the room and third, the amount of maintenance that will be required.

Many house paints are designed to be self-cleaning or chalking. They gradually form a film which rain washes off along with any dirt that adheres to it. This feature is desirable if using white paint, not so in bright colors which show a powdery washdown. Do not put a chalking paint where there is masonry or darker color below. Check for the terms chalking and non-chalking when buying your paint.

Correct all surface problems before starting to paint, this will allow the paint to adhere better for longer wear.

Painting can be one of the fastest and cheapest ways to remodel. For more information on this do it yourself project ask for this publication to make the job easier.
